

AAEM Responds to IOM Report

Tom Scaletta, MD FAAEM, president of AAEM, wrote a news release about the IOM Report that was distributed to several national newspapers. The Washington Post picked up the story and printed Dr. Scaletta's letter. The letter stresses the point that emergency room overcrowding can also be due to corporate-run emergency departments under staffing the emergency rooms. The link to the letter that appeared in the Washington Post can be found at:
